

Asia Pacific Journal of Environmental Law

Volume 26, Issue 1, 2023

Contents

Editorial

Assessing and managing 'loss and damage' in the context of climate change in Bangladesh; participatory forest governance in Bangladesh; modern slavery as a 'hidden obstacle' to achieving climate justice in the Asia Pacific region; environmental impact assessment, overlapping jurisdictions and the Hong Kong-Zhuhai-Macao Bridge; and considering China's authoritarian approach to constructing 'ecological civilization'

1

Ed Couzens, Tim Stephens, Katie Woolaston and Cameron Holley

Articles

Climate change and loss and damage in Bangladesh

Laurène Barmaz, Karen Makuch, Miriam Aczel and Saleemul Huq

9

An assessment of the legal and policy framework for participatory forest governance in Bangladesh

Najnin Begum and Shawkat Alam

33

Modern slavery: the hidden obstacle to achieving climate justice in the Asia Pacific region, and beyond

Joshua Glass

62

Hong Kong-Zhuhai-Macao Bridge: the environmental logic of three EIAs

David Y K Kwok

87

A beacon of hope for a troubled Earth? A critical analysis of China's authoritarian approach to constructing 'ecological civilization'

Evelyn Li Wang

108